“ I had just been hired for my first "real" job at H.H. Robertson, where I met Ray. He and my next-door neighbor, Joe worked together and were friends. When I bought my first brand-new car, we all car-pooled to work together. They were so nice to this "kid", and we rode together for years. I never heard anyone say a bad word about Ray. In later years, I discovered that his daughter and my sister were good friends! My sincerest sympathy goes to his entire family. Rest in peace, Ray.
